College welcomes exchange students

Tshwane South College for FET hosted a breakfast to welcome back their exchange students that completed their first year stint in America at various institutions.

Students sent for longer periods are still in America. Irene Marais and Mareka Chabedi from the American embassy enjoyed the morning with the students and management from the college. The students related their experiences to the guests.

Lesego Makhubela acted as the unofficial leader and spokesperson for the group of exchange students coming from various countries, such as South Africa, Pakistan, Indonesia, Turkey and Brazil.

All the students commented on themes like the commitment of the lecturers at the American institutions they attended, the tutoring system that they have in place and internet access that is free and available to all.

The students came back fluent in English and well versed in time management.

At the back are Vincent Ngobeni (campus manager Pretoria West), Julinda Adriaanse (campus manager Centurion), Mareka Chabedi and Irene Marais (American embassy), Schalk Walters (chairperson of council), Petronella Matlou, Jorrie Jordaan (principal) and Goodwill Fakude. In front are Benjamin Godzwane, Thulani Mahlangu, Collen Lehaha and Glenda Lekgadimane.
